

Deryck Dwyer

M.B.A., BSc.

Executive, JOHSPA

Deryck Dwyer holds an M.B.A. from Georgia State University and a BSc. in Mechanical Engineering from New York Institute of Technology. He has been involved in the private security industry for over 20 years and has held several senior management positions both within the security industry and in private enterprise. Through his experiences in the aviation and security industries, he has developed a keen interest in the field of Occupational Health and Safety. He is the current Security & Safety Manager for Continental Baking Company.

Deryck is a certified Polygraph Examiner, since 2001, having achieved training and qualification in polygraph science and methodology at the International Academy of Polygraph in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. He is also certified by the Jamaica Civil Aviation Authority as an Aviation Security Instructor. In addition to being the current President of the Jamaica Polygraph Association, he is a member of the American Polygraph Association, the worldwide governing body for polygraph examiners.

Deryck is a former council member of ASIS International's Council on Work Place Substance Abuse, and former Secretary of the ASIS International - Jamaica Chapter.